Dear Mr Coles,

I write further to your letter of the 12 December to my colleague, Mr Coleman and to your two subsequent letters of 14 December to the Council's Chief Executive, Ms Barnes and the Council's Leader, Councillor Hill on the same matters. I would add that I have recently succeeded Mr Coleman as the Council's Monitoring Officer.

Although I note that the Council's Corporate Complaints Policy specifically excludes consideration of complaints concerning decisions on planning applications, the Council has nonetheless sought to address your concerns through this process and provided responses via the Council's Customer Relations Team.

Having carefully considered the correspondence you have submitted, the Council's responses and the documents submitted for both planning applications and having thereby reasonably discharged my duty of enquiry as Monitoring Officer, I do not propose to take any further action.

As has been pointed out previously, if you desire for these matters to be subject to judicial scrutiny then you may wish to seek independent legal advice on the merits of a judicial review.

Yours faithfully,

Will Bell
Monitoring Officer
